No peace without better sharing, including knowledge.

No democracy without social justice. No freedom without education for world citizenship, for capacity building, for endogenous and sustainable development.

Endless diversity, uniqueness of the human beings is the richness of mankind. A global legal and ethical frame, guided by universal values and not by the market, where the “We, the peoples...” of the UN Charter enshrines again, is indispensable for the governance that is urgently requires at world scale.

The optimist magazine appear very timely to contribute to promote awareness, commitment and involvement on sustainable development.
