Comoros, Kazakhstan, Pakistan and Philippines: draft resolution

Promotion of interreligious and intercultural dialogue, understanding and cooperation for peace

The General Assembly,

Reaffirming the purposes and principles enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights,¹ in particular the right to freedom of thought, conscience and religion,

Recalling its resolutions 56/6 of 9 November 2001, on the Global Agenda for Dialogue among Civilizations, 57/6 of 4 November 2002, on the International Decade for a Culture of Peace and Non-Violence for the Children of the World, 2001-2010, 57/337 of 3 July 2003, on the prevention of armed conflict, 58/128 of 19 December 2003, on the promotion of religious and cultural understanding, harmony and cooperation, 59/23 of 11 November 2004, on the promotion of interreligious dialogue, 61/17 of 20 November 2006 on the International Year of Reconciliation, 2009, 62/155 of 18 December 2007, on human rights and cultural diversity, 63/113 of 5 December 2008, on the International Decade for a Culture of Peace and Non-Violence for the Children of the World, 2001-2010, and 63/181 of 18 December 2008, on the elimination of all forms of intolerance and of discrimination based on religion or belief,

Recalling also its resolution 63/22 of 13 November 2008, on the promotion of interreligious and intercultural dialogue, understanding and cooperation for peace, and the leading role played by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization in the preparations for the celebration of the International Year for the Rapprochement of Cultures, in 2010,

Bearing in mind the valuable contribution that dialogue among civilizations can make to an improved awareness and understanding of the common values shared by all humankind,

Noting that interreligious and intercultural dialogue has made significant contributions to the enrichment of cultures and faiths as well as the deepening of understanding, promotion of tolerance and improvement of overall relations among nations,

Recognizing the various initiatives at the national, regional and international levels, as well as the efforts made by the United Nations system, aimed at promoting and enhancing dialogue, understanding and cooperation among religions, cultures and civilizations,² which are all mutually reinforcing and interrelated,

Welcoming the various activities in commemoration of the International Year of Reconciliation, 2009,³

Recognizing the need to further support activities aimed at promoting dialogue among religions, cultures and civilizations in order to enhance social stability and cohesion in diverse communities and to create, at the global level, an environment conducive to respect, mutual understanding and peace,⁴

Welcoming the decision taken in resolution 47 adopted on 23 October 2009 by the General Conference of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization at its thirty-fifth session,⁴ in which the Conference approved the preliminary action plan for the celebration of the International Year for the Rapprochement of Cultures, in 2010,

Affirming the importance of sustaining the process of engaging all stakeholders in the interreligious, intercultural and intercivilizational dialogue within the appropriate initiatives at the various levels,

Recognizing the commitment of all religions to peace,

1. Affirms that mutual understanding and interreligious dialogue constitute important dimensions of the dialogue among civilizations and of the culture of peace;

2. Takes note of the report of the Secretary-General on interreligious and intercultural dialogue, understanding and cooperation for peace;⁵

3. Also takes note of the work of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization on interreligious dialogue in the context of its efforts to promote dialogue among civilizations, cultures and peoples, as well as activities related to a culture of peace, and welcomes its focus on concrete action at the global, regional and subregional levels and its flagship project on the promotion of interfaith dialogue;

4. Reaffirms the solemn commitment of all States to fulfil their obligations to promote universal respect for, and observance and protection of, all human rights and fundamental freedoms for all in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights¹ and other instruments relating to human rights and international law, the universal nature of these rights and freedoms being beyond question;

5. Encourages the promotion of dialogue among the media from all cultures and civilizations, emphasizes that everyone has the right to freedom of expression, and reaffirms that the exercise of this right carries with it special duties and responsibilities and may therefore be subject to certain restrictions, but these shall be only such as are provided by law and necessary for respect of the rights or reputations of others, protection of national security or of public order, or of public health or morals;⁶

6. Encourages Member States to continue to consider, as and where appropriate, initiatives that identify areas for practical action in all sectors and levels of society for the promotion of interreligious and intercultural dialogue, tolerance, understanding and cooperation, inter alia, the ideas suggested during the High-level Dialogue on Interreligious and Intercultural Understanding and Cooperation for Peace, held on 4 and 5 October 2007, including the idea of an enhanced process of dialogue among world religions;

7. Encourages Member States to consider adhering to the 2005 Declaration on Interfaith Dialogue and Cooperation for Peace,⁷ and takes note of the fourth Ministerial Meeting on Interfaith Dialogue and Cooperation for Peace, held on 25 September 2009 in New York;

8. Requests the President of the General Assembly at its sixty-fourth session to hold an interactive thematic debate on interreligious, intercultural and intercivilizational understanding and to invite leaders of the world's major religions and representatives of faith-based organizations to participate;

9. Calls on Member States, following the commemoration of the International Year of Reconciliation, 2009, to further promote reconciliation to help ensure durable peace and sustained development, including through reconciliatory measures such as forgiveness and compassion;

10. Encourages the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, as the lead agency for the International Year for the Rapprochement of Cultures, to promote the action plan for the celebration of the Year, and encourages Member States and all organizations, institutions and civil society working to promote the rapprochement of cultures, to join in the celebration of the Year in order to demonstrate their firm commitment to interreligious, intercultural and intercivilizational dialogue;⁴

⁶ See article 19, paras. 2 and 3 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (resolution 2200 A (XXI), annex.

⁷ See A/60/383.

11. Requests the Secretary-General to organize a special event to launch the celebration of the International Year for the Rapprochement of Cultures in the General Assembly, within existing resources;

12. Calls for the strengthening of the focal point role played by the Office for Economic and Social Council Support and Coordination in the Department of Economic and Social Affairs of the Secretariat to allow it to further interact and coordinate with the relevant entities of the United Nations system and coordinate their contribution to the intergovernmental process;

13. Requests the Secretary-General to submit to the General Assembly at its sixty-fifth session a comprehensive report on the different initiatives on interreligious, intercultural and intercivilizational dialogue, including those that have not been included in his report to the General Assembly at its sixty-fourth session,⁵ and, in coordination with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, on the possibility of proclaiming a United Nations decade for interreligious and intercultural dialogue and cooperation for peace, building on the information contained in the report of the Secretary-General⁵ and the relevant initiatives to be taken in the course of 2010.
